What is the Arizona Early Childhood Development and Health Board (First Things First)?

In November 2006, Arizona voters passed Proposition 203, also known as First Things First, a citizen's initiative that funds quality early childhood development and health at the state and local level. The Proposition created a new state level board known as the Arizona Early Childhood Development and Health (AzECDH) Board, also known as the Board of First Things First, and the Regional Partnership Councils.

First Things First Mission

The mission of First Things First is to increase the quality of, and access to, early childhood programs that will ensure a child entering school arrives healthy and ready to succeed. This mission will principally be achieved through regional grants tailored to the specific needs and characteristics of the communities that the regions serve, with a focus on demonstrating improved outcomes around First Things First's six goal areas prioritized by the challenges the regions face. This mission is also accomplished through statewide initiatives that have been prioritized by the Board of First Things First.

This statewide policy and regional perspective are critical to the success of the First Things First mission. Early childhood development and health system initiatives from First Things First will be coordinated through statewide initiatives and regional priorities.

First Things First Goal Areas

The First Things First initiative specifies that programs undertaken by the Arizona Early Childhood Development and Health Board and the Regional Partnership Councils are to accomplish one or more of the following Goal Areas:

- Improve the quality of early childhood development and health programs.
- Increase the access to quality early childhood development and health programs.
- Increase access to preventive health care and health screenings for children through age five.
- Offer parent and family support and education concerning early childhood development and literacy.
- Provide professional development and training for early childhood development and health providers.
- Increasing coordination of early childhood development and health programs and provide public information about the importance of early childhood development and health.

What is the Funding Source?

The First Things First initiative provides for the distribution of funding through both statewide and regional grants.

Of the monies expended in a fiscal year from the First Things First program account, no more than ten percent may be used to fund statewide grants or programs. Statewide programs are considered those implemented across regional boundaries and are designed to benefit Arizona's children as a whole.

This Request for Grant Application is specifically dedicated to funding regional programs. Regional funding is based on the approval of the Regional Partnership Council funding plans submitted to the Board of First Things First.

The Regional Partnership Council that is involved in the release of this Request for Grant Application is the Yavapai Regional Partnership Council.

Who is Eligible to Apply for this Funding Opportunity?

First Things First awards grants to:

- Non-profit 501 (c) (3) organizations providing services in Arizona (both secular and faith-based)
- Units of Arizona government (local, county and state entities as well as schools and school districts)
- Federally recognized Tribal governments or entities providing services within Arizona
- Arizona institutions of higher learning (colleges and universities)
- Private organizations providing services in Arizona

All potential Applicants must demonstrate organizational, fiscal and programmatic capacity to meet the requirements described in the scope of work listed in this RFGA.

What is the Total Funding Amount Available in this Request for Grant Application?

This is an eleven (11) month contract for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2011 with an option for renewal for two (2) additional twelve (12) month periods. Total funds available are approximately $25,000 for the first funding period. First Things First reserves the right not to award the entire amount of available funds or to award an amount that is greater than the posted available funds. Renewal will be contingent upon satisfactory contract performance, evaluation and availability of funds. One or multiple awards may be made. The target number of Child Care Conferences to be provided is at least one (1) per year, to serve a minimum of 75 child care providers.

Scope of Work: What Will This Grant Fund?

Background

Few professions have as great an impact on society as early care and education providers. They are entrusted with our most valuable assets, our children. In addition to ensuring that the young children in their care are in a safe and healthy environment, they are also charged with promoting early learning, and healthy social and emotional development.

Many of those caring for young children do not have the information or the experience they need to help children maximize learning, to identify developmental delays or to address challenging behaviors. Because young children, including infants and toddlers, spend so much time in settings outside their own homes, it is especially important to ensure that early care and education providers have the tools and skills they need to promote successful childhood development and early learning.

Every encounter with a young child is an opportunity to promote learning as well as social and emotional competence. The preparation and ongoing professional development of early childhood educators is a fundamental component of a high quality early learning system. First Things First recognizes the need to provide a variety of options to engage providers to increase their skills and knowledge level. While community-based training has not been well evaluated, it does provide a logical stepping stone to more formal and credit bearing professional development.

Within the Yavapai Region, access to affordable community-based professional development and educational opportunities is limited. Training outside the region is prohibitive due to the cost of travel. Additionally, child care providers have limited opportunities to develop peer networks that would help them support each other and work together to solve common concerns.

The Yavapai County Child Care Coalition has identified the need to provide Child Care Conferences to address these issues. Child Care Conferences will bring child care providers together in ways that promote networking and relationship building. Professional development in topics that employ best practices and that are current, relevant and research-based will be provided in convenient locations, at an affordable cost to attendees. Child Care Conferences will address the numerous barriers that impact the ability of child care providers to attend professional development activities including: cost of registration; scheduling conflicts; and travel costs. Additionally, many early care and education providers who are non-traditional learners or have been away from the classroom for a period of time may prefer less formal professional development opportunities.

Strategy Overview

The Yavapai Regional Partnership Council has identified the need for regional Child Care Conferences that provide high quality, affordable, relevant and research-based community-based professional development and networking opportunities to enhance the skills of early care and education providers working in the Region.

Target Population

The intended target population of this funding opportunity is the early care and education workforce in the Yavapai Region, including care providers, teachers, directors, and others working directly with children birth through age five and their families.

Geographic Boundaries

The Yavapai Regional Partnership Council serves all of the communities located within Yavapai County, including the Yavapai-Apache Nation, plus the portion of the City of Sedona located in Coconino County. Applicants responding to this RFGA must be able to provide services throughout the region.

Implementation Requirements

First Things First is soliciting applications to implement Child Care Conferences in the Yavapai Region. This includes: selecting relevant and research-based training topics and curricula; arranging for qualified presenters and centralized locations; developing marketing materials; providing outreach to child care and other appropriate early childhood service providers; and conducting the conferences.

Successful Applicants should incorporate the best-practice principles for community-based professional development as identified in the First Things First Community-Based Professional Development for Early Care and Education Professionals Standards of Practice found in Exhibit A. The Applicant should provide an explanation for all Standards of Practice principles not included in the proposed Child Care Conference delivery model.

The Yavapai Regional Partnership Council would like to ensure that the early care and education providers working throughout the region have access to Child Care Conferences. In order for the Conferences to be accessible to the most providers the Applicant is expected to propose a model that minimizes barriers to participation. Child Care Conferences should be provided free of charge. Conference locations should be carefully considered to ensure the greatest access. Locations that allow for satellite/remote participation are preferable. Other incentives to participation may also be proposed, including travel stipends. If travel stipends are included in the program design, the Applicant will be responsible for reviewing requests and making stipend awards based on established criteria. In no way will stipends supplant other professional development resources and opportunities that exist in the region.

Successful Applicants will demonstrate the capacity to:

- Provide high quality professional development opportunities that minimize barriers to attendance;
- Work with the Yavapai County Child Care Coalition and the target population to identify specific training needs within the core competency areas identified by the National Council for Professional Recognition (as identified in the first Things First Community-Based Professional Development for Early Care and Education Professionals Standards of Practice);
- Provide opportunities for early care and education providers to meet with each other to develop relationships that will provide support that extends beyond the conference schedule.

High quality professional development will include the following components:

- Trainings that are interactive, model desired behaviors, and address the multiple learning styles of adult learners;

- Identification of expected outcomes for participants and methods to assess whether participants can successfully implement these outcomes in their workplace;
- Provision of resources, information, support and encouragement for participants to continue their education, including information about college credit coursework, Child Development Associate certification and T.E.A.C.H. ARIZONA scholarship program;
- Access to information about additional community resources that provide opportunities for continued learning or provide support to implement the training components in participant's workplace.

This Request for Grant Application is seeking Applicants to address these specific Goals and Key Measures:

First Things First Goal Area to be addressed:

- Professional Development

First Things First Goals to be addressed:

- First Things First will build a skilled and well-prepared early childhood development workforce.
- First Things First will increase retention of the early care and education workforce.

First Things First Key Measure to be addressed:

- Retention rates of early childhood development and health professionals

Coordination

Coordination and collaboration among early childhood service providers is critical to developing a seamless service delivery system for children and families. Through coordination and collaboration, organizations begin to look at how they can change the way they work together so that they deliver services to children and families in new, more effective and efficient ways. As a result of coordination and collaboration, services are often easier to access and are implemented in a manner that is more responsive to the needs of the families. Coordination and collaboration may also result in greater capacity to deliver services because organizations are working together to identify and address gaps in service.

Services and programs cannot be implemented in isolation. Successful applicants must demonstrate capacity to attend meetings and participate productively in coordination and collaboration activities occurring within the First Things First region being served. In order to accomplish this, Applicants should plan the appropriate staffing and budget to support travel to and attendance at quarterly meetings within the regional area.

Program Specific Data Collection

All successful Applications will be provided with data reporting requirements by First Things First and will meet the requirements of the evaluation including, but not limited to, timely and regular reporting and cooperation with all First Things First evaluation activities. Timely and regular reporting of all performance and evaluation data including the electronic submission (through First Things First secure web portal known as PGMS) of data identified in data reporting templates (which will follow the First Things First general orientation).

Performance Measures for the purposes of this RFGA are as follows:

- Number of early care and education providers that reported increased knowledge in early childhood development and education after participating in a local professional development activity provided through a project grant/service number
- Number of early childhood teachers or caregivers successfully completing trainings/proposed service number
- Number of participants satisfied with professional development opportunities (minimum questions provided by First Things First staff)/strategic target number

BUDGET NARRATIVE EXPLANATION

The purpose of the budget narrative is to provide more clarity and detail on the various budget line items. The budget narrative should explain the criteria used to compute the budget figures on the budget form. Please verify that the narrative and budget form correspond and the calculations and totals are accurate. Please include one narrative that matches the 11-month line item budget categories and subcategories.

Personnel Services: Include information such as position title(s), name of employee (if known), salary, time to be spent on this program (hours or %), number of months assigned to this program, etc. Explain how the salary rate for each position was determined. If salaries are expected to increase during the project year, indicate the percentage increases for each position and justify the percent of the salary increase. Also, be sure to include the scheduled salary increases on the Budget Form.

Employee Related Expenses: Include a benefit percentage and what expenses make up employee benefit costs. Indicate any special rates for part-time employees, if applicable. Explain how the benefits for each position were determined. If using a fringe benefit rate, explain how this percentage is justified or approved by your agency.

Professional and Outside Services: If professional consultants/services costs are proposed in the budget, define how the costs for these services were determined and the justification for the services related to the project. Explain how all contracts will be procured.

Travel: Separate travel that is in state and out-of-state. Include a detailed breakdown of hotel, transportation, meal costs, etc. Indicate the location(s) of travel, the justification for travel, how many employees will attend and how the estimates have been determined. Explain the relationship of each cost item to the project (e.g., if training or training expenses are requested, explain the topic of the training and its relationship to the project). Applicants must use the State of Arizona Travel Policy on rates limitations for mileage, lodging, and meals (<http://www.gao.az.gov/travel/> for both in state and out-of-state travel.

Aid to Organizations or Individuals: In the event that this application represents collaboration and the contract will be utilizing other sub grantees or subcontractors to perform various components of the program, include a list of sub grantees, programmatic work each sub grantee will perform, and how costs for each sub grantee are determined.

Other Operating Expenses: Explain each item to be purchased, how the costs were determined and justify the need for the items. All purchases should be made through competitive bid or using established purchasing procedures. All items should be categorized in the following categories: Telephones / Communications Services, Internet Access, General Office Supplies, Food, Rent/Occupancy, Evaluation (non-contracted and non-personnel expenses), Utilities, Furniture, Postage, Software (including IT supplies), Dues/Subscriptions, Advertising, Printing/Copying, Equipment Maintenance, Professional Development/Staff Training, Conference Workshops/ Training Fees for Staff, Insurance, Program Materials, Program Supplies, Scholarships, and Program Incentives

Non-Capital Equipment: For items with a unit cost less than $5,000 and an initial estimated useful life beyond a single year, explain each item to be purchased, how the costs were determined and justify the need for the items. All purchases should be made through competitive bid or using established purchasing procedures. For example, items such as computers, printers, projectors, etc. each with a unit cost less than $5,000.

Administrative/Indirect Costs: Administrative costs are general or centralized expenses of overall administration of an organization that receives grant funds and does not include particular program costs. For organizations that have an established federally approved indirect cost rate for Federal awards, indirect costs mean those costs that are included in the organization's indirect cost rate. Such costs are generally identified with the organization's overall operation and are further described in 2 CFR 220, 2 CFR 225, and 2 CFR 230.

Applicants must list either Option A or Option B and provide proper justification for expenses included:

- ☐ Option A - Administrative Costs: with proper justification, sub grantees may include an allocation for administrative costs for up to 10% of the total direct funds requested of the grant request. Administrative costs may include allocable direct charges for: costs of financial, accounting, auditing, contracting or general legal services; costs of internal evaluation, including overall organization's management improvement costs; and costs of general liability insurance that protects the organization(s) responsible for operating a project, other than insurance costs solely attributable to the project. Administrative costs may also include that portion of salaries and benefits of the project's director and other administrative staff not attributable to the time spent in support of a specific project.

Or

- ☐ Option B - Federally Approved Indirect Costs: *If your organization has a federally approved indirect cost rate agreement in place, grantees may include an allocation for indirect costs for up to 10% of the grant request. Applicants must provide a copy of their federally approved indirect cost rate agreement.

Indirect costs are costs of an organization that are not readily assignable to a particular project, but are necessary to the operation of the organization and the performance of the project. The cost of operating and maintaining facilities, depreciation, and administrative salaries are examples of the types of costs that are usually treated as indirect.

Data Collection and Evaluation Plan

Performance Measure	Data to Collect	Plan for Data Collection	Plan for Using the Data	Quality Assurance

Exhibit A

First Things First Community-Based Professional Development for Early Care and Education Professionals Standards of Practice

Because young children, including infants and toddlers, spend so much time in early care and education settings outside their own homes, it is especially important to ensure that the professionals responsible for their early care and education have the tools and skills to promote learning and healthy social and emotional development, and know how to help when development is not progressing as it should. The preparation and ongoing professional development of early educators is a fundamental component of a high quality early learning system. The education and training of teachers and administrators is strongly related to early childhood program quality, and program quality predicts development outcomes for children.¹

However, early care and education professionals are often nontraditional learners who benefit from a range of professional development supports. First Things First recognizes the need to provide a variety of options to engage early care and education professionals in professional development. In addition to college coursework, other formats of professional development can encourage individuals who have been away from formal schooling to return to the classroom.

While community-based professional development has not been well evaluated, it does provide another logical stepping stone to more formal and credit bearing professional development. Participants will be encouraged and supported to eventually continue their education through college credit coursework and/or participation in T.E.A.C.H and Quality First! All professional development opportunities will be required to show successful outcomes, either through an assessment process, achievement of milestones, or a follow-up visit by a mentor or coach to determine if professional practice has been changed based upon what was learned.

First Things First invites innovative and creative ways to provide high quality professional development to the early care and education workforce in Arizona. The broad nature of this strategy allows stakeholders to collaborate in a variety of innovative and creative ways to increase access to quality community-based professional development opportunities. Models of community-based professional development may focus on enhancing leadership and administrative skills among child care administrators in order to enhance program quality. Additionally, grantees may pursue other approaches to professional development, such as the use of cohorts for participants, single day seminars, or multi-day trainings that are held over the course of several months. While these programs come in different forms, they have a common goal of increasing the level of preparation and skill of early care and education providers, and encouraging them to pursue certification and college degrees in the field.

Research demonstrates that the most effective types of professional development approaches include content-based workshops as well as hands-on, one-on-one mentoring or coaching, also referred to as “consultation.”

¹ Ohio Department of Education (January 2006). Critical Issues in Early Educator Professional and Workforce Development. Columbus: OH. This paper was funded by the Department under the Commission of the School Readiness Solutions Group, and was developed by Jana Fleming.

A national, multi-state evaluation on consulting as professional development concluded that on-site consultation resulted in improvements for both center-based care as well as family child care on factors on Harms' environmental rating scales.² Further, formal professional development is related to increased quality care; however, experience without formal training has not been found to be related to quality care. Therefore, the value of applying theory to practice is a key element of community-based professional development.³

While each First Things First funded community-based professional development program may be uniquely designed, they all have a valuable role to play in meeting the complex needs of early care and education professionals, families, and communities across the State of Arizona. First Things First focuses on programs and services that provide children with the best opportunities for school and life success.

First Things First funded programs may supplement but not supplant other state expenditures on, and federal monies received for early childhood development and health programs. Funding decisions are based upon a robust process of review to ensure programs are supported by research, value the family and use approaches considered to be best practice.

Applicants in regions that contain federally designated tribal areas must describe their outreach activities for early care and education providers within tribal communities.

Qualifications for Trainers/Instructors:

- Instructors should be knowledgeable about and possess experience in working with both adult learners and young children birth to age five.
- Instructor must have experience in early childhood education, elementary education with a concentration in early childhood, child and family studies, or a closely related field in order to meet the qualifications of adjunct faculty at the local community college. Supervisors must meet or exceed these requirements with at least two years of program management experience. If programs experience hardship in recruitment efforts, they must notify and consult with First Things First.
- Instructors should possess appropriate credentials and experience in conducting professional development activities.
- Demonstrated knowledge and skills that reflect current best practices and research that are aligned with Early Childhood Education standards for children and professionals.
- Minimum five years experience working with young children (combination of classroom and supervisory experience)

Community Based Professional Development programs delivering professional development opportunities will be required to ensure that opportunities are designed and implemented according to the following principles:

In order to facilitate the process for approval of college credit for community-based trainings, grantees will need to identify one representative to participate in a statewide advisory committee that will inform First Things First regarding the requirements for the approval of college credit. First Things First will create the advisory committee once grantees have been identified. They will also be required to demonstrate a willingness to work with First Things First Regional Partnership Councils via the Regional Coordinator structure and the systems of communications established by First Things First.
